Justification (including impact on majors, minors, concentrations, and general education courses within the University curriculum; attach additional pages if required)
Undergraduate students who have not taken this course will take the 400-level the Teaching of English (including Drama, Speech and Journalism) course instead. This is being done to enhance the methods course and to be able to cross-list it with the 500-level Teaching of English (including Drama, Speech and Journalism) course so as to provide a more unified experience for students in all our Secondary programs.

Transition Plan (describe how will students who are in Catalogs where the course is required for a major be accommodated; attach additional pages if required)
Starting in Fall 2013, students who are in the Secondary program will be required to take the 400-level Teaching of English (including Drama, Speech and Journalism) course if they have not already taken EDUC 324. Students who have taken EDUC 324 will not have to take the 400-level course.
