Current Catalog Entry

Prerequisite: CPSC 220 and 225 or CPSC 340. Provides an introduction to computer security. The focus is on providing the students a wide overview of current computer security. Topics covered include, but are not limited to, basic cryptography, network security, system security, wireless security and mobile security. In addition, course labs provide a hands-on, in-depth exploration of specific topics.

Proposed Catalog Entry

Prerequisite: CPSC 220 and 225. Provides an introduction to computer security. The focus is on providing the students a wide overview of current computer security. Topics covered include, but are not limited to, basic cryptography, network security, system security, wireless security and mobile security. In addition, course labs provide a hands-on, in-depth exploration of specific topics.

JUSTIFICATION (including impact on majors, minors, concentrations, and general education courses within the University curriculum; attach additional pages if required). Any change that impacts another Department must have a written statement (such as a copy of an email) from the Chair(s) agreeing to the change.

This change is to remove the option to take 340 instead of 225 and 220. This option was in place to simplify the transition of previous curriculum change, but is not needed any more. 340 requires both 225 and 220, so that option is redundant.

TRANSITION PLAN (describe how will students who are in Catalogs where the course is required for a major be accommodated; attach additional pages if required)

There is no transition plan needed. Any student with CPSC 340 must have taken CPSC 220 and 225 already.
