Prerequisite: SPAN 312 or permission of the instructor. Great works from Latin America selected from the period of the Boom and Post-Boom. | Prerequisite: SPAN 312 or permission of the instructor. Latin American novels from the foundational narratives of the 19th century to the present.

JUSTIFICATION (including impact on majors, minors, concentrations, and general education courses within the University curriculum; attach additional pages if required)
We have created a new course. A senior level seminar that focuses on an in depth study of the most important novels published between the period known as the Boom of Latin American Literature (1960-1970). With this new description 385 will offer the opportunity to study great works from Latin America that cover a broader period. This course will now be similar to Spanish 383, Contemporary Spanish Prose, in its breadth, and will also allow for inclusion of the 19th century novel that is not currently reflected in our Latin American literature courses at this level.

TRANSITION PLAN (describe how will students who are in Catalogs where the course is required for a major be accommodated; attach additional pages if required)
385 continues to count in the major, as before, as an advanced elective, so there will be no impact on students during the transition.
