JUSTIFICATION (including impact on majors, minors, concentrations, and general education courses within the University curriculum; attach additional pages if required)

CPR has proposed splitting this course into two courses (RELG 277, Religion in America Before the Civil War; and RELG 278, Religion in America After the Civil War). The CAS Curriculum Committee has approved this request to add the new courses. We are completing the process by deleting RELG 276, which will no longer be offered.

TRANSITION PLAN (describe how will students who are in Catalogs where the course is required for a major be accommodated; attach additional pages if required)

Because RELG 276 was an elective within both the Religion and American Studies majors, there is no need to make accommodation plans for either major. RELG 276 was a Human Experience and Society course, but CPR plans to seek similar designation for its successor courses, RELG 277 and RELG 278, which means Human Experience and Society will gain one course overall, rather than losing one.
