New Course Proposal Cover Sheet (July 2013)
Rationale Statement
The College of Business is renaming all of the discipline-specific classes to clearly communicate which classes belong to which business disciplines. It should make it much easier for students to find and schedule classes of interest to them.

Having a specific seminar class for the discipline will both more clearly communicate the focus of the class and enable the students to select a seminar that may meet specific curricular objectives. For example, a student pursuing a management minor, which requires so many management electives, may fulfill some of these electives through taking MGMT 471 whereas it would require a substitution form to allow this requirement to be fulfilled by BUAD 471 (the existing generic business seminar class).

Impact Statement
There are no new resources required for this course. The accounting faculty within the College of Business already teach multiple BUAD 471 classes depending upon demand and other circumstances. The only change with this course is that now the accounting faculty will be teaching ACCT 471 instead of BUAD 471 when they teach seminars in accounting.
